COLLIER IS MADE PRESIDENT

Director-General of Panama Exposition Succeeds Grant, Who Is Made Chairman of Directors.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—Col. D. C. Collier, director-general of the Panama-California International exposition, has been elevated to the presidency of the exposition, vice U. S. Grant, Jr., who was elected president of the board of directors. Col. Collier's very exceptional abilities have thus received the greatest recognition it is in the power of the exposition management to bestow. The San Diego Union, telling of the change, said:

"For some time it has been understood that Col. Collier was to be given a position of greater prominence and power in the Panama-California exposition organization, not only in recognition of his services to the exposition in the past but also to permit him to carry out his plans for a greater exposition in San Diego in 1915 with more facility and increased power."

"The resignation of U. S. Grant, Jr., as president was received with great reluctance by the members of the board of directors, but he was promptly made chairman of the board and will continue to be identified with the project and to lend it his hearty support."

Col. Collier was succeeded in the office of director-general by Acting Director-General J. W. Sefton, Jr. B. H. Vreeland was named as secretary of the exposition to take the place of L. G. Monroe, who had previously resigned. Vreeland will be secretary and auditor. C. A. Richardson resigned as auditor some weeks ago.

San Diego has already been satisfied that it acted wisely in undertaking to hold the great exposition. President Collier has unselfishly devoted his time, talents and money to working out the plans for the great event, working without pay and meeting his own expenses. His achievements thus far have almost staggered the people of his city, and it is not any surprise that they have declared him worthy of heading the exposition, which he is doing so much to bring to a successful issue.

BOONIS DRY FARMING.

The preliminary work done for the Panama-California International exposition to be held at San Diego in 1915, in the way of forestation and intensive cultivation of dry lands, has attracted world-wide attention. The department of agriculture in Washington has shown a great interest in it, and as one result, the city forester of San Diego has planted hundreds of acres of the 7,000 acres of public lands belonging to the city, and which have never before returned one cent in revenue, to eucalypti and other rapidly growing trees. What is considered remarkable is the fact that these trees, cultivated under "dry farming" methods, have shown a growth of eight feet in one year, and that none have been lost from drought.

President D. C. Collier, the "dynamic force" back of the exposition, declares that the highest purpose of the exposition is to show the millions of visitors to it that the small farm in southern California offers a solution of the present high cost of living problem. The work of the San Diego city forester and of the exposition landscape gardeners is being watched by nearly every large land owner in southern California, and many of whom are following the example being set at San Diego.

Authority has been given by President Collier for the "Little Landers" to put in two one-acre farms on the exposition grounds. These will be in the perfection of their development by the time the exposition opens. City Forester Max Watson intends to utilize the labor of prisoners to reclaim the entire 7,000 acres of public lands, demonstrate their fruitfulness without irrigation, and lease them in small tracts to the landless of the city, who are yearning for a little farm and a living in the country.

A Garden of Allah.

Where the hot winds of the Sahara meet the verdure of the oasis the Arab pitches his tent under the palm trees by a fount of water and lying down his prayer rug he turns his face to the east and thanks Allah for bringing him to pleasant places where he and his camels may rest.

Did you know that the date palms which give the Arab bread and meat and sweets, which furnish him literally with the staff of life, are grown in southern California and they will be shown at the San Diego exposition bearing great clusters of ripening dates.

For ten years the United States department of agriculture has been experimenting with dates in Arizona and southern California. It has brought from Egypt, Arabia, from the Sudan, and from everywhere that the date grows, the finest kinds of date palms to be found in those countries, and its scientists have patiently cultivated these date palms and have experimented in the ways to produce the best fruit. Last year one date palm in the Coachella valley yielded 100 pounds of dates which sold in Los Angeles at 10 cents per pound. Fifty date palms are set to the acre, so that there is promise of good profit in raising dates. The American Date company expects to have an acre of date palms in bearing at the exposition in 1915, although the climate of San Diego is not so hot as the date belt of Egypt.

The Chairmanship.

Who will steer the destinies of the Republican party in the coming campaign? It seems to be an open question as yet. The president's secretary, Mr. Hill, is considered "available." Assistant William Lusk, Jr., is one of the most discussed men for the place, but a great many persons believe that the active Chicagoan, Secretary of the Interior Fisher, a progressive and yet a good supporter of the president, would be an ideal man for the place. There is pressing need for a man to direct the campaign. Will it be Fisher?

Opinions still differ materially regarding the extent and kind of legislation that will be considered by congress. It seems probable, however, that the Republicans will try to do something worth while in the way of progressive, constructive legislation, which the country is in a good humor to appreciate.

THE PROPER COURSE.

Information of Priceless Value to Every Albuquerque Citizen.

How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the diseases and ailments of the human body. If you suffer with backache, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement will add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statements of nearby residents who have been permanently cured?

Hector Barr, Delgado St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "About two and a half years ago I gave a public statement, telling of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. They completely rid me of pains in my back that had troubled me off and on for months. Whenever I stooped or brought any strain on my loins, I suffered severely and there were various other difficulties which convinced me that my trouble came from disordered kidneys. It was not long after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills that every symptom of my trouble disappeared. The fact that I have no return attack warrants me in expressing a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills."

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

Don't neglect your hair. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and you will be surprised at the quick results.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

CHILDREN ARE TAUGHT TO CARE FOR BABIES

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Forty nurses, who will be teachers in the "Little Mothers" schools established by Superintendent of Schools Ellis Flagg Young in all city grades for girls, today received their instructions and the outline of the courses they will teach the little mothers.

These are the twelve "commandments" which Mrs. Katherine Herrigan, supervisor of nurses in the health department, laid down as a basis for the instruction:

The baby must be kept quiet.

It should sleep alone.

Windows should be open when baby sleeps.

Don't feed it when it cries, but when it should have food.

Keep clear of soothing syrups—they're dangerous.

Beer, tea, coffee, candy and fruit are not foods for baby.

Baby needs water to drink.

He needs only liquid food.

Smoking the thumb is a bad habit.

Chewing baby's food for him is unsanitary.

Baby is not a plaything.

Keeping baby well is better than trying to cure it when it is sick.

WILL ADMIT ARSON BESIDES OTHER THINGS

Oakland, Dec. 6.—Charles Hubbard, named by his brother, William B. Hubbard, as the wrecker of his home, will tomorrow plead guilty to a charge of arson, Deputy District Attorney W. H. Smith today stated.

Charles Hubbard is accused of setting fire to his brother's home on the night after the latter had filed a suit for divorce against Fanny F. Hubbard and exposed Charles Hubbard's alleged relations with her. William and Fanny Hubbard had been married for a quarter of a century, and the husband declares they were happy together until Charles Hubbard came upon the scene.

The suit for divorce has been dismissed since the arrest of Charles Hubbard for arson. It has been found that when Charles Hubbard came to Oakland he was on parole from the prison at Port Leavenworth, Kan., where he had been confined upon a charge involving the use of the mails.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH SELLING DOPE

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 6.—Mrs. Rose Mentor, proprietor of the Abbie drug store at Jackson street and Grant avenue, and who is accused by the state board of pharmacy with being one of the largest and most important dispensers of morphine and cocaine on the Pacific coast, appeared before Police Judge Shortall on two charges yesterday morning.

The attractive woman druggist asked for a continuance of her arraignment until next Wednesday or Thursday, saying that she had not been able to secure an attorney as yet.

Judge Shortall continued the charges for plea until Monday morning, with the promise that she should have plenty of time to prepare for the trial after her plea was entered. Attorney Thomas O'Connor of the pharmacy board filed a third charge against Mrs. Mentor yesterday, alleging that on October 31st she sold morphine to Inspector Sutherland.

LADIES GLAD RAGS COST GOOD MONEY

But Who Doesn't Know That? Uncle Sam Gives Out Some Interesting Figures on the Subject.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Part of what woman gets out of her brief span of life is disclosed in the latest preliminary census report put out by Director Durand. It deals with the manufacture of woman's clothing in the United States.

According to the figures and aside from innumerable small dressmaking establishments throughout the country, woman has working for her 4,558 large manufacturing establishments given over exclusively to the manufacturing of woman's clothing, such as suits, dresses and skirts, shirtwaists, cloaks, capes, jackets, wrappers, blouses, boleros, shields, and a line of "dresses," "lovelies" and mysteries that are modestly grouped under the designation of "and similar articles."

Army of 153,743.

In these 4,558 establishments there is working for her an army of 153,743 persons whose annual payroll is $78,505,000.

Persons who work for "mother" apparently do not grow rich, for balking the highest paid with the lowest this payroll represents an average monthly wage of $42.55 for the year 1909. This, however, is a vast improvement over the rate of pay of five years previous, when the average monthly wage was $36.83. In addition to this force of wage-earners, there are 18,796 employees, such as officials and clerks, of the salaried class whose monthly average pay is $40.

The material these factories work up is valued at $208,788,990. After $98,586,000 has been spent on it in labor and salaries and $33,745,000 in miscellaneous expenses, making a total of $241,459,990, the product leaves the factories worth $384,752,000.

Of course, woman's bill is not $384,752,000. It would be if she could buy direct from the factory at factory values. But by the time this output is piled in disheveled heaps on the counters for the weekly bargain day stampede or sturdily hung on show window models its aggregate sum batters the boldest Sunday supplement economist, whose bewildering calculations never fail to make thrilling Sunday reading.

Even the retail price figures do not begin to tell the story, for they do not take into account the damage done by the army of 300,000 dressmakers, the force of 105,000 milliners and those thousands of other craftspeople engaged in the art of making women happy if not always comfortable. If these totals could be ascertained and set down on paper, Secretary Wilson's financial figures on the ravages of the boll weevil and economic damage by disease-carrying insects would sink into insignificance. Only the daring alchemical calculations of the Astronomer Flammarion could shine above that flood of figures.

Starts on Upward Course.

Nor is the end in sight. What has been termed "the woman's game" has just started on a fresh upward course. In five years the number of establishments manufacturing woman's wear on an extensive scale increased from 3,321 to 4,558; the capital invested from $73,000,000 to $129,301,000, and the value of the output from $247,000,000 to $384,752,000.

"What's the moral of this story?" some one asked. By the official who handed out the preliminary report on woman's clothing.

"It's this," replied the census man. "If you want to feel like 'pinkie' just look at mother. Also at sister."

Then he headed to the press the preliminary census report on how much it costs to keep men in cigars. It shows that not more than 10,822 tobacco factories are kept working to supply the needs of man.

While the woman's clothing establishments employed an army of 172,000 persons, the tobacco factories kept 18,796 employees busy making smoke fuel, chewing tobacco, snuff and similar necessities for men.

At factory prices it costs $384,000,000 to keep woman in clothes, but it costs $416,000,000 to keep man in tobacco.

That has been advanced as one of the reasons why men object so strenuously to women acquiring the tobacco habits as well as the clothes habit.

WHY THIS DISPUTE? THEY ALL LOOK GOOD

Paris, Dec. 6.—A fair-haired woman correspondent of the Eclairage de Nice, has made an energetic protest against the alium recently laid down by a French savant on the intellectual and physical superiority of brunettes.

The scientist in question asserts that two generations hence fair women will be extinct and that the blonde woman is a degenerate type.

Dark women, he adds, are usually more robust and stronger physically and intellectually than their fair sisters. The correspondent challenges these statements and says that a true French blonde is a "gem." The letter is signed "A fair woman who rides horses, climbs trees and receives callers only at the dinner table."

KANSAS FURS ARE ITEM OF WEALTH

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 6.—Native fur-bearing animals are a rather important factor in the resources of Kansas. A man who has never looked into it would hardly assume that Kansas has fur-bearing animals to any great number. But Professor L. L. Dyche, state fish and game warden, from estimates received from Kansas fur dealers, believes that the Kansas fur-bearing animals are the beaver and muskrat, valued at $500,000 a year.

"The great trouble in this state is that fur-bearing animals have been killed out of season to such an extent that much money is lost in that way, such furs bringing only a small per cent of the value of prime furs," Mr. Dyche said.

Muskrats, mink, raccoons, skunks, opossums and civet cats are the chief fur-bearing animals killed in Kansas. The beaver and otter are practically extinct. On prime furs the prices ran as follows last year in this state: Muskrat, 75 cents; mink, $3 to $5; raccoon, 70 cents; civet cat, 40 cents to $1.

The open season on these fur-bearing animals in Kansas, under the state fish and game law, is from November 15 to March 15. Warden Dyche says that during this time the furs are prime and will bring the best prices. These animals have never been protected before this year.

"For dealers in Kansas have told me," said Mr. Dyche, "that some seasons hunters and trappers in Kansas have lost in the neighborhood of $300,000 by shooting these animals out of season."

EASY AND SURE WAY TO CURE COLDS

Don't Neglect a Cold, Stop It in the Sneezing Stage. Use Ely's Cream Balm.

A cold usually attacks the weakest part, affecting the eyes and ears in some and producing nasal catarrh and throat troubles in others. A cold is due to an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and may be promptly cured with a little Ely's Cream Balm, which immediately relieves the inflammation and all the distressing symptoms, such as sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and eyes, soreness, sore throat, fever and headache. One reason why this pure, antiseptic Balm acts so quickly is because it is applied directly to the tender, sore surfaces.

Even in severe, chronic cases of catarrh, Ely's Cream Balm never fails to quickly and effectively check the poisonous discharges which clog the head and throat, causing the disgusting hawking, spitting and blowing of the nose. This remedy not only drives out the rottenness, but heals and strengthens the weakened and diseased membranes, thus ending catarrh for all time.

Catarrh is a filthy, disgusting disease. Don't put up with it another day. Get a 50-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist today; or, if your own requires spraying of the nose, throat or ears, call for Ely's (Liquid) Cream Balm.

CHILD OF FORTUNE IS IRA THOMAS

Athletics' Catcher Was Born Under Lucky Star; Has Been on Four Pennant Teams.

It can be stated positively that if Ira Thomas fell out of an aeroplane he would land "ker plunk" in a feather bed. That is because old Good Luck and Ira are born pals. If Mack was to let him go to the St. Louis club next season it's even money that that team would win the pennant.

When Ira was a lad in kiltie up at the old homestead at Hamilton Spn., N. Y., he fell down three flights of stairs. On regaining his feet he picked up a quarter.

When Connie Mack purchased this fellow's release from Hughes Jennings in 1908 the last thing Ira said to Jennings when he was leaving the club was: "Hughes, the club I'm going with is going to win the pennant." He missed his guess by a year, but his lucky star was off on a lambchore.

Ira is going into the real estate business in Philadelphia, and it's a good guess to make that he will own half of the city if his old luck doesn't forsake him. He's after Willie Keeler's record. Baseball managers, believing in signs, regard Thomas as a lucky one, and if he was free he'd be grabbed right away, even if his good wing had cracked to smithereens. Talk about falling down the sewer and coming up covered with diamonds! Thomas has that faded to the mast.

Willie Keeler and Thomas used to get together when they were both on the same club and talk it over. Keeler at times would josh Ira by saying: "Ira, if I had your head of hair and that college education I would be a rich man."

"Never mind, Willie," Ira would retort. "I will have a pile of money at that before I get through."

Here are some instances of Ira's luck:

He was with the Providence club when it won the pennant in 1905; Detroit, 1906, and Athletics, 1910 and 1911. One year, 1909, as missed and there was no cut in on world series money. Ira has cleaned up about $10,000 in the last few years in addition to his salary. Right now he is a good catcher and will earn a great deal more before he gets out of the game. It will be his luck if he owns a club some day which will win pennants and world's championships.

ships one after the other. Some of the ball players say that Ira saves more than he makes. However, Thomas is one of the late ball players who thinks that ten years is about all for the player, and he is looking out for the end.

For a long time Ira was regarded as being a poor catcher. But he has improved. He was not much when he was with the Yankees, and Hughes Jennings did not think he was big league material. Those who saw the series in which the Athletics and the Cubs played say that he caught just as good ball as any receiver in the business. Now he is a fine catcher, thinks Connie Mack, and that is good enough.

"Yes, things always did break good for me," says Ira, when told that he has had all the breaks in the baseball business. "I told Jennings that I was going with a pennant winner when he let me out and sure enough the Athletics grabbed the title of 1910 and the world's championship, too. Things broke good again this year, and it looks as if I am going to have good luck as long as I am in the game."

"It's nice to have the manager feel that he would like to have you around. I am a sort of mascot for pennant winners and world's championship teams, and that's a good way to have things run for you. It's easier than making axes, which was the trade I started in."
